Indiana Technical College

with its alumni

whose engineering success

makes possible

tech's growth

with ever • expanding facilities in pace with requirements of modern industry

Mr. Donald C. Burnham, Manufacturing Manager for the Oldsmobile Division of General Motors, was the Commencement speaker for the November, 1952, exercises.

dedicated to the engineer

In 1953 the engineer is the most wanted and needed professional individual. To his credit, primarily, goes the phenomenal industrial expansion taking place today.

This years KEKIONGAN is proud to dedicate this annual to the Indiana Tech Engineer. He has proven himself—in competition with engineers from all other colleges and universities—often to be of the very top caliber, but in a great majority of cases considerably above average caliber. Never is he below par.

Congratulations to Tech's Engineer. He is making a name for himself. It is through his success that Indiana Technical College will continue a healthy expansion "geared" to the requirements of American Industry.

aeronautical engineering

Aeronautical engineering has assumed an important place in present-day manufacturing, transportation and communication. The course offered at Indiana Technical College makes possible a career in design and production of all types of aircraft, the development of airports, experimental development and sales.

Aeronautical subjects are attempted only after the student is well grounded in the fundamentals of mathematics, engineering drawing and general science. This sequence of subjects carries the student logically and smoothly upward through general engineering requisites into aeronautical problems and graduation. If the student, after graduation, desires to work on his Master's Degree, he will find that his credits can be transferred to any leading college.

The purpose of the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences is the promotion and development of aviation. Throughout the past year, the IAS has increased in size due in part to the standing of the club, the entertaining and informative programs, the field trips, and to the annual banquets. Since this is a student branch of the national organization of the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences, all graduating Aeronautical Engineers consider it a privilege to be members of this organization.

chemical engineering

Chemical Engineering is one of the youngest branches of the engineering profession. Even so, it has enjoyed vast development and expansion during the past half-century. Furthermore, with the increasing recognition as the basic technology underlying the development and operation of virtually all industries, it will realize even greater growth in the years to come.

civil engineering

The Civil Engineer has developed new methods and ideas to meet the demands of our present age. The developments in the various branches of engineering has created new problems in the design and construction of buildings, highways, airports, and other structures. Even though the oldest of the fields of engineering, it continues to grow and develop and provide opportunities for men of vision.

of the club is to promote interest in the field of Civil Engineering through the regularly held business meetings, movies, authoritative speakers and field trips.

electrical engineering

The increasing utilization of electrical power in this country makes immense demands on the professional Electrical Engineer. To analyze and solve Electrical Engineering problems, the Electrical Engineer must have broad knowledge in the mechanical, electrical and economic aspects of his field. His skill and creative ability transforms theoretical knowledge into practical service to make a more modern tomorrow.

If that sign is right we hope these fellows know what they're doing.

mechanical engineering

The Mechanical Engineer must be familiar with broad principles of Mechanical Engineering. He is a scientist, a mathematician, a draftsman, a designer, an originator, as well as an efficiency expert.

The field of Mechanical Engineering is so broad that no man can be an authority on all its branches. For this reason, practicing Mechanical Engineers tend to become specialists in chosen branches.

With the pressing effects and the problems of school, men must find some means to relieve the tension. What better way can the human soul find for its relaxation than in music?

The men of the Male Chorus are bound together for this very reason. Theirs is a union of common brotherhood, a union of helping each other in times of stress when brotherhood is so important.

The men of the Chorus are also improving their personalities; they are rounding out their personalities to enjoy life to its fullest. They are developing human relations, developing characters that will aid them in reaching any goal to which they may aspire.

basketball

This season was the first for Coach Mendenhall. Coach Mendenhall came to Tech with an excellent reputation as a High School Coach and as Coach for the professional Fort Wayne Zollners. In this first season the improvements that Mendenhall made in the athletic department have been phenomenal. Although we didn't win as many basketball games as we would have liked, the percentage over last season has improved. Our players were good but lacked experience. But watch out next year.

In case the suspense is killing you . . . this one went in.

Another field goal for the opposition . . . who said the coach was worried?

Service

Although Tech's Tennis Team only broke into the winners column twice this season, their showing was impressive over such top caliber opponents. Captain of the team this year as he was last year was Virg Gardinier from the Aero Dept. This spring's team did much better than last years in that every member of the team has a win to his credit. Those with the most wins were Dalglish, Rowe, Hemminger, and Boucher all with three wins apiece. The team finished its eight game schedule with a 2-6 record.

Members of the team that received letters are: Virg Gardinier, Rome, New York; Dave Dalglish, Westminster, Maryland; Kerns Rowe, Olean, New York; Al Hemminger, Oak Harbor, Ohio; Roland Boucher, Trois Rivières, Quebec, Canada; Jim Gunraj, British Guiana, and Derek Lonneaux, Daytona Beach, Florida.

The Indiana Technical College Bowling Club went into action early in the fall. The ten teams participating all had their up-sets, and each did its share of up-setting before the seven-months season ended. After the first four weeks of bowling, the Radio team pulled out in front so rapidly that it looked as though it would win the championship in a breeze. After the Christmas vacation, however, the Radio team slumped and a close race between the Mechanical, Aero, KEO, and Radio teams developed. After scores of the first game of the last match were posted, the Mechanical, Radio, and Aero teams were tied for first place; The final standings were as follows:

Mechanical	42	30
Radio	41	31
Aero	41	31

KEO	38 1/2	33 1/2
Hawaii	36 1/2	35 1/2
Pyramid	36	36
AGU	35	37
Battery	31 1/2	40 1/2
Honolulu	30 1/2	41 1/2
Faculty	30	42

Individual honors were won as follows:

High season average: Stoker, first; Baserman, second; Coffman and Levickas, tied for third.

High three game series: Stoker, first; Levickas, second; Fowler, third.

High single game: Stoker, first; Levickas, second; Coffman, third.

baseball

This one was a foul ball.

The 1953 baseball season wound up with half of the scheduled games rained out or called on account of rain. Another game ended in a tie at the end of 13 innings. However, Coach Mendenhall's boys enjoyed occasional sunshine with a display of diamond wizardry. Among notable accomplishments, a one-hitter pitched by Gladieux and the long ball hit by Bill Deitch were the most impressive of the season. The next season's team will lose through graduation, Chester Strong, Harold Weiler, and Bill Deitch, Tech's all-around athlete.
